Hi,

My name is Craig Reed Giles Williams. I first became interested in software engineering, & CIS in 2014 when I was introduced to it by some friends. These friends were acquiring their skills via a DIY approach. It was not a field that I had any formal education in, & I had not considered it prior to that point. But, the idea of teaching myself a new skill fascinated me. So, I decided to give it a try.

It didn't take long for software engineering to become a major interest of mine. I started my education by using online resources, textbooks, & by attending user groups. Through connections I made I was able to participate in a Java bootcamp, & a systems administration internship. From there, I went on to be employed as a .Net engineer, & most recently to complete two CIS degrees.

I am currently looking for an internship, or entry level position at an organization with a strong culture of mentorship, paired programming, & continued learning. These qualities are important to me in an employer. Additionally, most of my experience centers around .Net. It would be my preference to continue working on this platform. But, I could be open to other possibilities/technologies if the training infrastructure was present.

Thank you for your time, & consideration. Please, feel free to contact me if you have further questions.

-CRGW

TECHNICAL SKILLS

My wheelhouse is .Net/C#. I am familiar with the ORM, Entity Framework. And, to a lesser extent the WAF, ASP.NET. Naturally, I have experience with the most common tools, libraries, & frameworks associated with this type of development.

I am acquainted with RDBMS. This would primarily be Oracle, & MySQL. As well as the web development technologies HTML, CSS, & JS. The DVCS, Git. And, a few other programming languages including Java.
